

1 MULTI-USE BUILDING (MUB)

The MUB was built in 2012 and received a LEED Gold Certification. This 110,000 square-foot building is uniquely designed to conserve energy using eco-friendly skylights and a ventilation system. Many classes and events are held in this building. You will find academic departments such as Child Development and Family Studies and Health Education as well as many student services, including Credit and Noncredit Admissions and Records, Assessment, Academic, Career and Transfer Counseling, Financial Aid, Completion Center, Career Center, Transfer Center, Outreach and Recruitment, Registration, Residency, the Metro Transfer Program, the Bursar, and the Link Center.

2 SMITH HALL (SH), RAM PLAZA, AND STUDENT UNION (SU)

Smith Hall is where the student cafeteria and Chef's Table are located. These two restaurants are operated by our students in the culinary and hospitality programs. If you visit during Spring and Fall semesters, be sure to try the unique menus designed by students! The campus bookstore is also temporarily located here. Ram Plaza, located between Smith Hall and the Student Union, is designed to host outdoor student events throughout the year. The Student Union is the hub for student life on campus, including Student Activities, the Associated Students, and student clubs, as well as various resource centers. The Student Union also houses an eating area and cafe on the lower floor.

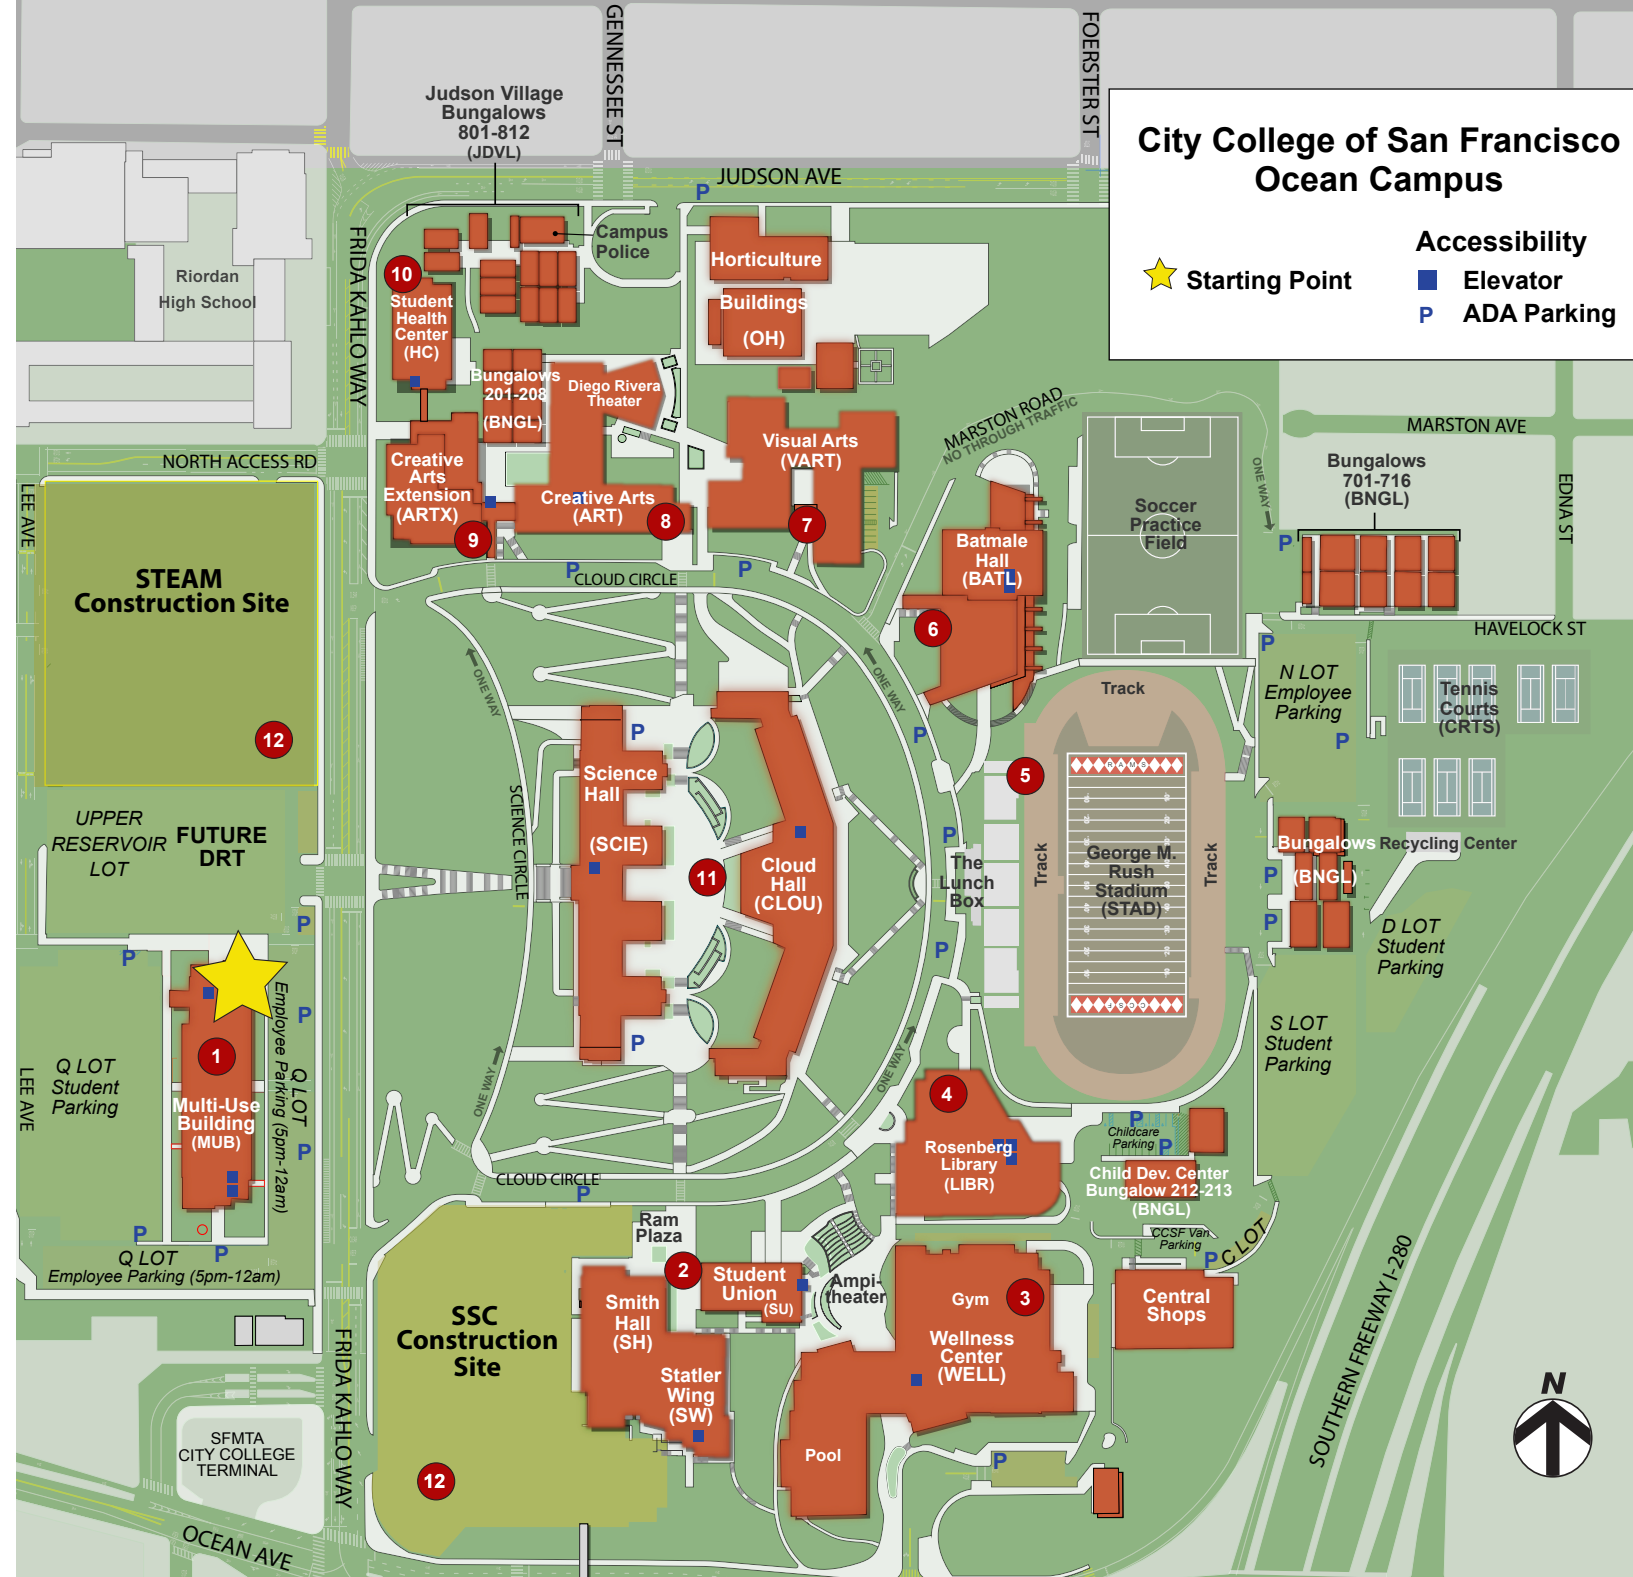

3 WELLNESS CENTER (WELL)

The Wellness Center features the aquatics center, an NCAA gymnasium, dance performance facility, a swimming pool, martial arts facility, weight training and conditioning centers, and team locker rooms. You will find trophies that our CCSF athletic teams have won over the years.

4 LOUISE AND CLAUDE ROSENBERG, JR. LIBRARY AND LEARNING RESOURCE CENTER (LIBR)

With a generous donation by Louise and Claude Rosenberg, the college was able to open the center with state-of-the-art equipment and furnishings in 1994. This five-story building provides many support services including archives, a Diego Rivera collection, group study rooms, library IT dept., a smart classroom, periodicals dept., printers, photocopiers, and fax services. The library also houses the Learning Assistance Department, the Collaboratory – a new space for all designers and makers, and various resource centers to support students' various needs from tutoring to multicultural retention services. Be sure to enjoy the amazing view of the football stadium along with the beautiful San Francisco panoramic view!

5 GEORGE M. RUSH STADIUM (STAD)

Formerly known as Rams stadium. In 2015, the college renamed it as the George M. Rush stadium to honor head coach George M. Rush, who brought national football championships to CCSF for many years. This multi-purpose football stadium has a capacity of 5,000 and is also used for some of our activity classes. When you look closely, you can see our tennis courts in the distance. The Lunch Box at Rush Stadium offers snacks and quick meals for game day or between classes.

6 BATMALE HALL (BATL)

This building serves several academic departments, such as the Social Sciences, English, Criminology and Administrative Justice, Architecture, English as a Second Language, and Mathematics. If you are taking classes in these subjects, you may be in Batmale or in other locations around campus. Batmale Hall is also the home to the IT support department. You can also find the APASS program in this building. Don't miss the spectacular view of San Francisco from the plaza and a photo opportunity!

7 VISUAL ARTS (VART)

These buildings are home to various departments, including Art, Photography, and Visual Media Design. There are also two art galleries located inside the building, where you can view the work of our talented students and faculty members! If you walk outside the Visual Arts building, you will find a beautiful courtyard, where you can enjoy a quiet moment.

8 CREATIVE ARTS (ART)

This building houses the Music department, which offers a traditional curriculum in Western music, as well as courses in African, Latin American, Asian, African American, and electronic music. Explore your musical talent by attending courses or programs from instrumental to composing. In addition, Creative Arts also houses the World Languages department.

9 ARTS EXTENSION (ARTX)

Arts Extension is the home of the Broadcast Electronic Media Arts department (BEMA). In BEMA you can learn valuable skills in the creation of digital media including streaming media, social media, music recording, and audio and video editing and post production.

10 STUDENT HEALTH CENTER (HC)

At CCSF, students have access to physical and mental health services, including smoking cessation, immunizations, reproductive health, and campus emergency care. Counseling and support groups are also available.

11 SCIENCE HALL (SCIE) AND CLOUD HALL (CLOU)

The Science Hall was the first building on campus, constructed in the 1930s. Currently, academic departments and programs such as science, technology, and engineering are located here. Cloud Hall is home to academic departments such as Business, Cinema, and Communication Studies. Both buildings house various resource centers to support student needs from basic needs to multicultural retention services.

12 FUTURE BUILDINGS

CCSF is adding three new buildings to enhance student learning and experiences. The first building is the STEAM Center, and will hold programs for the Science, Technology, Engineering, Arts and Math disciplines. New classrooms are designed to support hands-on learning experiences. The second building is the Student Success Center which provides over 30 student services and programs such as admissions, academic counseling, financial aid, the career and transfer centers, retention service programs, student resource centers, and SparkPoint CCSF Basic Needs Center. The third building is a new performing arts theater, Diego Rivera Theater which will be the future home of the Diego Rivera Pan American Unity Mural.
